

A JEWISH RABBI

Preached Jesus Christ Crucified at St. Paul, Minn.

The Members of the Synagogue Rush Upon Him

And Beat Him in a Horrible Manner and Then Threw Him Out of the Editor—The Rabbi Will Bring Suit for Big Damages.

ST. PAUL, MINN., Aug. 8.—Saturday, which was the Jewish Sabbath, at 5:30 in the afternoon, the hour when the descendants of Jacob were to pray and listen to a discourse from their rabbi, the synagogue of the Sons of Jacob was filled with devout worshippers.

A stranger rabbi, for such he was taken to be, arose and began to preach in the Hebrew tongue.

He was clever, and the audience was much taken with him. Suddenly he began to preach Christ crucified.

A match dropped into a can of powder could not have created a greater commotion than did the sudden appearance of the congregation on its feet demanding that the man be put out of the house.

The man continued to preach Christ as though talking to the most appreciative audience, and a moment later everybody made a rush for him at once. He attempted to run, but was overtaken and knocked down, and after being well thumped on the floor, dragged and thrown out of the synagogue, the stranger took the hint and concluded that he was not wanted there.

The man who had been so unmercifully beaten by the strangers was a converted Jewish Jew named Nathaniel Friedman, who lives at 626 Lawson street. He claims that he was invited them by a prominent member of the Sons of Jacob, and told that he might preach a short sermon.

Friedman, on Saturday evening that he would bring suit against the Sons of Jacob to recover damages for the injuries, etc. Friedman is not seriously hurt, but has some big bumps on his head, which he received by having his head bumped on the floor.

NO WONDER.

A Man With Seven Bullets in His Who Can Not Resist.

CHELSEA, N. Y., Aug. 8.—Sunday morning a terrible scuffle occurred in the restaurant of Wilkinson & Wade, Ed Seager and the proprietors being the participants. The trouble grew out of Seager refusing to pay for a meal of victuals, the price of which was twenty-five cents, whereas Seager said he was only ten cents short.

Began the row, slapping the face of Wilkinson, when the latter drew his revolver and fired at Seager. Wade also opened fire on Seager. After the smoke of battle had away, it was found that one bullet had hit him three times—one ball hitting him in the mouth, one in the neck, one in the back and three in the abdomen. The wounded man was taken to comfortable quarters, where a physician was called and dressed his wounds. Wilkinson and Wade left for parts unknown.

Actor Scanlan Loses His Speech.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—W. J. Scanlan, the comedian, has reached the second stage of the malady from which he is suffering, and which he attributed first to the effects of overeating, but which, it is said, of course, describes as the loss of the power of speech. This gentleman was a constant attendant of the playwright during his illness, and claims that there is no hope for the actor that the disease will ever be cured.

Scanlan's wife, Mrs. Scanlan, understands full the critical condition of her husband. She visits him daily at Bloom's.

IN HOC SIGNO VINCES.

A Word to Republicans.

The hope of the party lies in the expansion of its organization. The Republicans who work or others who help them support a Democratic paper to the exclusion of one of his own newspapers is untrue to the Republican cause.

Unanimously endorsed by the National Republican League.

J. S. CLARKSON, President.

A. B. HUMPHREY, Secretary.

No SCHEDULE in the whole McKinley bill was framed with greater care or with more discrimination than the schedule of duties on agricultural products and provisions. Not only did farmers and agriculturists, so far as possible without number have hearings before the Ways and Means Committee, but the members of that committee themselves spent no little time and labor in the construction of a schedule that would give the American farmer more thorough Protection and a better hold on the home market. That their efforts did not result in failure is shown by the following table giving the imports of various competing farm products (or finished products of which the raw material competes) in the years 1889 and 1891—the years immediately preceding and following the enactment of the McKinley bill—together with changes in rates of duty made by the new law:

Although the articles given in this table are but a few of the many that compete with the products of the American farms, they are enough to show that the effects of the McKinley Tariff has been to greatly decrease agricultural imports, and by the amount of that decrease, to put money into the pockets of our farmers. We also see that agricultural protection has taken the side of the government, given them the American Economist, to diversify their crops by raising the things for which the new Tariff law guarantees them a splendid market, instead of those of which there is a superabundant supply. Let the farmer continue his good work in this direction and it will be but a short time before foreign markets and foreign dependency will be a thing of the past. Prosperity for American farmers will be the watchword in the coming campaign, and the only way to secure it is to vote for Protection's candidates next November. Farmers should bear this in mind.

"FEW Presidents," observes The Dispatch Tribune, "have made so many judiciary appointments as Mr. HARRISON has, and no President has made better ones."

THERE is not a Democratic editor in the land from Cape Cod to San Francisco, from Lake Itasca to Key West, who is not to-day buying the very paper on which he prints his McKinley prices falsehoods for less money than he paid before the McKinley law was passed.

THE more the Democrats handle Senator ALDRICH's Tariff speech the less they like it. There was no empty generalization in it. The proofs were furnished for every statement, and every argument was forced home with mathematical precision. When a Democratic Tariff-measurer rises in the Senate to answer that speech, he has the cautious air of a statistician who is facing a measured battle.

STILL no Democrat has pointed out any article of domestic consumption that has been increased in price since the enactment of the McKinley law. Those whose price has been decreased might be named by the score.

CANDIDATE STEVENSON hasn't written a letter since his nomination that has leaked into publicity through the newspapers. His correspondents are vastly more considerate of his letters than the friends of Mr. CLEVELAND are of the latter's fervid and solicitous communications.

In order to put a stop to the fulminations of The Chicago Herald as to the wages paid at Homestead, The Chicago Inter-Ocean challenged The Herald to publish a list comparing the wages of one hundred of the best paid workingmen in the Carnegie mills, with one hundred of the best paid men on The Herald's staff. With the exception of an occasional feeble spark, The Herald isn't saying much about wages nowadays.

The coolest things which we have found during the last week of intolerance here, are in The New York Tribune, which has been the most Democratic journal that the price of an antracite coal has been advanced another ton by the wicked Tariff trust, and that millions of dollars will be saved to consumers by "Tariff reform and free coal." As there is no duty on anthracite coal, this assumption is really very refreshing.

DEMOCRATS weep over "the burdens of taxation" that are put upon the people, but they have never accomplished the removal of any of these burdens. The promise of the Republican party is, if the burden is specified and pointed out (which the Democratic shouters cannot do), to remove the burden if it lies within the authority of the Government to do it. The people are showing ample capacity to learn that the alleged burdens that the Democrats point out do not, in fact, rest upon the people. The people have insight to perceive that the burdens that afflict them are not those due to a Protective Tariff.

In Danger of Being Lynched.

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 8.—Wm. Ensell, a notorious Negro, was arrested Saturday in this port Saturday with a record of the fastest trip ever made between South America and New York. She crossed the bar at 10:45 p.m. Thursday night, having made from Leguayan, Venezuela, in five days and seven hours. This record was an average of fourteen knots an hour.

A SCHEME

To Establish Communication Between Earth and Mars.

Francis Galton, F. R. S., F. G. S., Will Endeavor to Accomplish It.

A Reflecting Mirror as Large as One at the Lick Observatory.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Mr. Francis Galton, F. R. S., F. G. S., chairman of the committee in charge of the Kew observatory, has written a letter to the Times relative to a scheme for establishing communication between Earth and Mars.

Mr. Galton declares that the use of sunlight reflected through a hole one-tenth of an inch square in a plate of glass would be just as distinctly seen as a faint glint at a distance of ten miles.

The amount of fog and haze which a beam of light would traverse before it reached Mars, when the latter is high above the horizon, Mr. Galton says, could not exceed that along an earthly ten-mile.

Therefore the same amount of size of the mirror and the distance would be true.

It follows that the flash from many mirrors simultaneously, whose aggregate width was fifteen yards, and whose aggregate length, to allow for the time was say twenty-five yards, would be visible at the Lick Observatory, in California, and the inhabitants, if they have eyes and fairly good telescopes, would speculate concerning the beam, and would wish to answer.

BATTLE IN SKIFFS.

One Man Knocked Overboard and Drowned—Others Severely Injured.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 8.—In the middle of the Ohio river, near Daddy's Run, six men in two skiffs, the terrible fight was fought Sunday afternoon by seven toughs, who were in two skiffs.

Ed Biel and Will and John Biel, his cousins, were in one boat, and Jim Soregel, of New Albany, and three friends in the other.

The two Biel brothers had quarreled at a fish-fry, and when they met in mid-stream they rowed for each other and the two boats meeting the occupants began to beat each other over the heads with oars.

Ed Biel was knocked unconscious and others were severely injured.

Soregel had a pistol, but it would not go off.

He has been arrested.

A Convict's Suicide.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 8.—For the third time in the past four months a tragedy has occurred at the Eastern penitentiary. Overwhelmed with the thought of the樵夫 future before him, James Rodan, known in prison as "A. 6974," committed suicide in the most tragic manner. He set fire to the mattress and bedding and sitting down deliberately, he drew a long drawn-out deep his heavily bound knife across his throat.

The cries of the desperate man attracted the attention of his keeper, but before the latter could reach him he had sustained such severe injuries that he died in the prison hospital in a few hours.

No Bluff This Time.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 8.—Elijah Thomas Gaillard, residing on the line of the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk railroad, near Roxbury Station, got into a towering rage with his mother, ran out of the house, and throwing himself in front of a freight train, was killed. Gaillard has been in the habit of placing himself in situations of imminent danger when wild with anger.

A TRAGIC ENCOUNTER

At a Political Meeting Caused by an Accident to a Young Lady.

PENNSAUKEN, Ind., Aug. 8.—The village of Pennsauken, in New Jersey, in this place, was the scene of one of the most bloody tragedies Saturday that this country ever knew.

It was the day of the democratic mass convention of the county and a large crowd had assembled in all sections to hear the political speakers. Among the spectators, a woman, wife of Miss Barnet, the daughter of a respected farmer, was indecently assaulted by one Barnes, a coal miner of Ayershire, which is a cooling station near Winslow.

Sheriff Stillwell arrested Barnes in McCoy's saloon, when he was at once set upon by a dozen drunken miners, who demanded the release of Barnes, which was refused. The sheriff called upon bystanders to assist him, when a number of miners, with clubs, axes, hammers, billiard cues, etc., weapons, charged him.

The steamer Progress arrived at Redondo, Cal., Sunday, nineteen days from New York. This is the first arrival of the Great Pacific Steamship Co.'s vessels which will make regular voyages from New York to Redondo and San Francisco.

At Florence, Ala., Lee Stuts, seventeen years of age, shot and killed Leroy Flanagan, a boy of 14, who was sent west by the farm of which Flanagan was overseer and as the relations of the two men were friendly, no cause is assigned for the murder.

During a severe rain and electric storm at Mattoon, Ill., Sunday morning M. C. Cox & Co.'s laundry building was discovered to be on fire and before the blaze was extinguished damage to the extent of $40,000 had been done the building, stock and adjoining buildings.

Getting the Paper Ready.

"Years ago," said the drummer, "when I first went on the road, I had a customer at one of those wild Western towns who also held several public offices. I never knew him, but only he had the help."

"One day he was making him make out an order, when an ugly-looking fellow, with a big gun in his pocket, came in, and after buying a plug of tobacco, he said:

"Hain't seen nothin' of Shucklin Jim Guijon around this morning, hev you?"

"Seen him down to Mike's saloon about two hours ago," replied my customer. "Why?"

"Nuthin' much. I goin' to her it out the paper now, and I reckon you better git the paper now."

Then he went out.

"Jeff Shooter, we call him, an' I guess that's the name he got," he explained. "You wouldn't talk with him, would you? The man's six time he's come in here askin' me to git the papers ready in the last two years, and he ain't done nuthin' else a year a time."

The paper was taken outside to me.

"What the deuce have you got to do with it?" I asked.

He took a bundle of papers in his pocket and once more sat down before the paper.

"Nuthin' till it's over," he said. "I'm the Coroner."

WASHINGTON MONUMENT.

Its Eccentric Movements Very Carefully Watched Every Day to Day.

A statement to the effect that the Washington Monument is perceptibly tipping over, and is already a good deal inclined to the West from the plumb perpendicular, has already created much attention and alarm. The movement is about one foot and 6 inches tall and 50 feet square at the base.

Captain Hawkins, who is in charge of the shaft, was applied to in regard to the matter, and made an interesting explanation of the situation. He said:

"The movement, indeed, but it has done that ever since it was first driven the direction is just now to the Southwest. Come here, and I can show you just."

Mr. Hawkins took from his desk some rolls of drawing paper. Each sheet had on it a circle about ten inches in diameter, and was divided into four quadrants. Down in the South quadrant there was a succession of pencil lines like a thin cobweb, interspersed with small figures.

"That," he said, "is a chart of the movement of the monument for the month. The figures are the distances and the directions of the movement. The shaft there are two main lines. One in the North gives the inclination of the monument to the East or West, and the one in the West gives the movement to the North or South. The lines are heavy wires, both inclosed in metal casings, to keep them from being disturbed by wind or water. There were also two large pieces of lead, immersed in this oil, to keep them steady against any minor vibrations. The movement of the shaft is not so great as to be perceptible by the naked eye, and there are two telescopes, with slow moving screws, that can be brought to bear on each point of the chart, and the numbers of that line along the scale below it can be read to the one-thousandth of an inch."

"This circle, in which the chart of the shaft is drawn, is about one-half of an inch in diameter, and is equal to a tenth of an inch on the plumb line scale, being enlarged in this way to make the movement visible. The shaft has a slow and to-and-fro, yearly motion, which seldom exceeds one hundredth of an inch. It travels round in a circle, and now you see it is down in the South, and now it is up in the North."

"All the above meetings have trotting contests, those at Mayville being especially attractive."

ONE FARE FOR ROUND TRIP!

—FOR THE—

RIPLEY FAIR

The C. and O. Railroad will sell round trip tickets on account of the Ripley, Ohio, Fair.

Aug. 30th to Sept. 2d

One fare for the round trip from Cincinnati and Portsmouth and all intermediate points to the fair.

At the time of the meeting, the foundation has sunk about one thousandth of an inch, and there is an iron plate with a hole in it projecting from the wall.

It is to hold the level rod steady while reading the dial, but has some slight effect upon the inclination of the shaft, but the principal movement comes from the effect of the sun heat upon the stone.

There are level readings taken from time to time to determine whether or not the foundation of the monument has sunk.
